SII, other firms eye tie-ups to develop monkeypox vax

Indian Immunologicals and Haffkine Research Institute also in fray

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 18 August

Serum Institute of India (SII) and some other firms have started evaluating options to tie up with international players to develop a monkeypox vaccine. Some of them have shown interest in partnering with the Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) to develop the vaccine candidate.

SII CEO Adar Poonawalla had told Business Standard that it was collaborating with Greenlight Biosciences, a US-based company with technology, to make mRNA vaccines, for a handful of vaccines, including one for shingles. "We are even looking at doing something on monkeypox with them. It is a technology that still needs some time," Poonawalla said.

Over 38,000 people have been infected by monkeypox globally in more than 90 countries. The matter of concern is that more than 85 countries never reported laboratory confirmed cases of monkeypox prior to the 2022 outbreak, and the disease was endemic mostly in parts of Africa.

SII has submitted an expression of interest (EoI) to collaborate with the ICMR to make the monkeypox vaccine. The company did not wish to comment on the matter.

ICMR's National Institute of Virology,

SHOT IN THE ARM

- SII has tied up with Greenlight in March this year to design three mRNA products
- ICMR invites EoIs for collaborating to make monkeypox vaccine
- ICMR to take 5% royalty; NIV, Pune has isolated the virus strain
- Danish firm Bavarian Nordic looking for partners to expand production capacity of Jynneos – monkeypox vaccine

Pune, has already succeeded in isolating the monkeypox virus strain, something it had done at the time of Sars-CoV-2 pandemic.

Public sector companies such as Hyderabad-based Indian Immunologicals, and Mumbai-based Haffkine Research Institute, too, have entered the race to make the vaccine. Sources indicated that Dr Reddy's Laboratories, which is the Indian partner for Russian Sputnik V Covid-19 vaccine is also in the fray. DRL did not wish to comment on the matter.

Firms are awaiting a communication from the Centre on how to take things forward, multiple industry sources indicated.

ICMR is yet to take the final call on which firm it would partner with, and is scrutinising the EoIs. It would take a 5 per cent royalty from the partner firm, while the vaccine developer will be responsible for conducting clinical trials, producing and commercialising the vaccine.

Tata Power arm raises ₹2,000 cr

BS REPORTER
Mumbai, 18 August

Tata Power Renewable Energy, a subsidiary of Tata Power, on Thursday said it raised ₹2,000 crore by issuing 83.6 million equity shares to BlackRock-backed GreenForest New Energies Bidco.

The transaction is part of the ₹4,000-crore investment announced in April by Tata Power for its green energy business.

The company said that it would offload 10.53 per cent stake in its renewable energy arm to a consortium backed by BlackRock and Mubadala, translating into a base equity valuation of ₹34,000 crore. The final shareholding would vary between 9.76 per cent and 11.43 per cent upon conversion.

Last week, the Competition Commission of India (CCI) had approved the deal, paving the way for the issuance of shares in tranches.

The investment will enable Tata Power to increase its capacity at a time when rivals such as the Adani group and Reliance Industries (RIL) are also ramping up their clean energy portfolios.

At a broader level, Tata Power has earmarked ₹75,000 crore for green energy in the next five years, Chairman N Chandrasekaran said last month.

An amount of ₹10,000 crore will be spent in the current fiscal year(FY23) to take the total capital expenditure (capex) during the ongoing fiscal to ₹14,000 crore, he said.

Tata Power was also taking a "pragmatic" approach to achieving its renewable energy targets and had added 707 megawatts (MW) of renewable capacity in FY22, Chandrasekaran said: "This has increased our clean and green portfolio to 34 per cent of total capacity. The company aims to raise this to 60 per cent in the next five years."

Last June, RIL committed ₹75,000 crore for renewable energy over three years and had declared a three-pronged strategy involving solar power, hydrogen production, e-fuels, and energy storage under its

"New Energy and New Materials" division.

Don't implement one-charger plan until EU does: Industry to Centre

KARTHIK JEROME
New Delhi, 18 August

A number of industry bodies on Wednesday asked the Consumer Affairs Ministry to not implement the one-charger policy until the European Union (EU) does the same, Business Standard has learnt.

"Closer examination of the feasibility of the common charger is required, and the lessons that will be learned from the EU must be closely examined before any precipitate action" a presentation by one of the industry groups said in an internal meeting.

The industry bodies also said that the evidence-based policy making should be based on a thorough market and consumer research with a proper impact assessment on consumer ease against cost preference. Further, it said, digital penetration and accessibility of mobile devices across the length and breadth of India is the most important issue. There is also a need of funding towards wireless charging and interoperability of charging solutions.

Speaking of e-waste, the industry bodies said that the one-charger policy might not have the desired effect. "I am not sure that it will impact the e-waste as you can have a common port but not a common charger because the power requirements of different devices are different" said Pankaj Mohindroo, chairman ICEA to Business Standard.

It must also be noted that India is a large base of charger manufacturing and it could affect the industry. "We have a massive manufacturing base and aspire to be world leaders in charger manufacturing," said Mohindroo.

DMart aims 5x rise in stores

Billionaire Radhakishan Damani's supermarket chain, DMart, plans to boost its store count fivefold as it seeks to grow market share and hold its own against aggressive expansion from the likes of Mukesh Ambani's Reliance Retail. Avenue Supermarts, which currently runs the fourth-largest number of convenience stores in India, could scale up the chain known for its knockdown prices on everything from lentils to laundry powder to 1,500 supermarkets from 284, Chief Executive Officer Neville Noronha said in an interview. He declined to give a timeline or estimate the investment needed.

"There's no need to worry about growth for another 20 years -- the headroom for growth is awesome," he said.
